MISSION FOCUS

Jay & Ella Janill
Northern African & Middle Eastern Peoples

Jay Janill and his wife, Ella, IMB missionaries in northern Africa, met Abel when they trekked to the mountains on a scouting expedition with Timothy, a local believing partner. Trekkers are required to hire security guards and a park guide to lead them and ensure their safety in an area that can be volatile. Abel was the park guide, and he showed an interest in spiritual conversations. They gave him an SD card for his cell phone that contained the full audio and digital Bible, stories from Scripture, and the Jesus film—all in his language. The next several times they went out to camp, Abel was their guide. Each time they met with him, they realized how much he was listening and reading the Word of God. In time, Abel confessed his faith in the Lord, and Timothy continued teaching him and encouraging him to share with others. But for each one like Abel who hears and believes, they pass hundreds of others on the cobblestone streets of their neighborhood who do not know truth and have not had access to the gospel.
